- Provide comprehensive tools for various calibration scenarios.

Ürün İncelemesi: COMPASS® for Flow software

COMPASS® for Flow is a fully customizable macro-enabled mass flow calibration software package based on the COMPASS® for Pressure software platform. Unlike its predecessor, COMPASS® for molbox, COMPASS® for Flow natively supports non Fluke Calibration flow references, making it a universal mass flow calibration program. References that have a supported remote interface can be fully automated. A built-in macro capability provides users a tool to perform complex real time flow computations, as well as alter the test scenario based on data collected. A complete set of unit under test setup, test setup and report generation tools are provided to support an unlimited set of calibration scenarios.
